School Superintendent's Report

Members Littleton School Board:

I beg leave to submit the following report of conditions in the public schools.

During the year of 1915 one of the uncompleted rooms at Apthorp has been finished together with a necessary stairway. This room is now occupied by combined VII-VIII grade, thus in part avoiding such crowded conditions as existed at the High School building last year. In the industrial arts building a dining room has been made on the upper floor beside the domestic arts room, and storage for lumber provided on the lower floor next to the Manual Training room. At North Littleton additional land has been purchased, the school building has been moved back, and a good basement built under it. The ell part has been extended to form an additional room for community meetings. A furnace has been placed in the basement to heat the school room and entrance hall.

The needed improvement and repairs for the current year are: The remaining room finished at Apthorp and the front entrance remodeled. Kilburn building shingled, painted, heating and sanitary equipment renewed. The Mitchell building basement rebuilt, new furnace, new sanitary equipment in connection with the sewer. Pattenville school building should be shingled, painted and generally remodeled for modern school use. The need of a new High School building is just as great as ever.

REGISTRATION AND ATTENDANCE

During the fall term 946 people were registered in all the schools, distributed as follows: High School 168, High School Grades 207, Kilburn 210, Apthorp 228, Mitchell 53, and rural schools 80. A year ago the registration for the fall term was 896, two years ago 844. The average membership was 904, a year ago 861, two years ago 802. Owing to the strict enforcement of the vaccination law the attendance for the fall term was below the usual standard. Visitors were most numerous at the Mitchell building, 42 and 44 in the upper and lower rooms respectively. At the Kilburn building each room averaged more than 30 visitors. In sad contrast with this is the record at Apthorp, where no room had more than 4 visitors and from that down to none.

The attendance law now requires children to attend school until the age of 16 unless they finish elementary school work, that is, the eighth grade, sooner. The child labor law permits the giving of employment certificates to any child over 14 who can meet the conditions as to health and regular school attendance. It should be clearly understood that the holding of an employment certificate does not excuse anyone from school attendance. It does not in any way excuse parents from complying with the requirements of the school attendance law.

INDUSTRIAL

For the present year manual training and domestic arts have been separated, the teacher of last year being retained for domestic arts work and another employed for manual training. In each department a course for first year in high school has been added, so now this instruction is given to all seventh and eighth grade pupils and a section of the freshmen class. With our present equipment we might plan for a four year course in domestic arts, but any extention of the course in manual training would require the installation of machinery for wood work, or development of manual training along some other line. Most of the products and projects undertaken by pupils have been for home use. In all such cases they have provided or paid for the material. A considerable amount of work has been done for school use and a small amount sold. A valuable part of the training lies in the careful accounting required from the pupils, and the results are shown in the table given.

	DOMESTIC ARTS		MANUAL TRAINING
	Cost	Value	Cost	Value
Home use	$44 12	$90 31	$16 47	38 04
School use	8 41	14 90	3 10	7 58
Sold	1 39	3 27	20	29
	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
	$53 93	$108 48	$19 77	$45 91

This table shows the cost of material and value of products in all the work completed during the fall term. There was a considerable amount of work begun, but not then completed, especially in the manual training room. The value of the results has been determined whenever possible by well qualified judges, as storekeepers and others in the town. When it is not possible to get at the value in this way we made a most careful estimate.

The generous gift of $100 from Rev. J. E. Johnson for promoting domestic arts work has made it possible for us to equip this department more fully and with implements of better quality than would otherwise have been possible. We gladly return our sincere thanks for this gift and for the books and pictures presented to Mann's Hill school. In all lines of school life there are opportunities for those who wish to follow so worthy an example.

We are still doing what we can in an informal way to use the wealth of educational material that may be found in the wide field of agriculture. The teachers are urged to keep this work constantly in mind and to encourage interest in such matters among the children. Last spring a very large part of the children, in some schools almost every child, obtained seeds or bulbs and cultivated something during the summer. In the fall we had the third annual children's fair. Especially high credit is due to the large number of children who took part, with very meager offerings in the way of prizes. There are, however, signs of a growing interest among the people in this valuable enterprise, and this is an especially good opportunity for community or individual interest and help.

RURAL SCHOOLS

The District has maintained this year as last year four rural schools. In addition to that a large number of children are brought to the village by the teams employed by the district and also one team from the northern part of the town to Mann's Hill, another from the same region to North Littleton, and one from Pine Hollow to Pattenville. The cost of transportation is yet a considerable expense, but in only one instance would it be practicable to maintain another school, and in that case the expense would be more than the cost of the team. At North Littleton the children are favored with a very much better yard than before, with an additional room and basement which can be used in bad weather, and they have also undertaken a little in the nature of domestic arts work, mostly in preparation of a noon lunch. The wretched condition of the Pattenville school house has been referred to. Next spring it should receive the same treatment as has been given to the North Littleton school house. The total registration of rural schools was 80 for the fall term, average membership 79.

HIGH SCHOOL

Last spring the action of your board was such that the high school was not definitely separated from the rest of the school system as in previous years. The dual system was adopted in 1910 to correct serious difficulties which had previously existed. As a policy it has developed serious defects, tends to impede progress and is now discarded by the very few communities where it has prevailed. By exercising good sense and forbearance good results have been attained in spite of the dual plan.

The change of plan wisely inaugurated by your board makes it necessary to consider the high school as an integral part of the school system in a way that has not been possible before. For the inner workings of the school you are referred to the able report of the principal. In its general relations, the high school as an institution is in a state of transition. By origin and tradition it is a college preparatory school, governing its work by the sometimes archaic demands of college entrance. By modern demand it is a development of the public school system, carrying forward the work of elementary schools and fitting young people more perfectly for the life of the community. The old high school never joined well to the elementary school, the new does better. Further improvement is sometimes sought by reorganizing the work of the seventh and eighth grades, often including the first year in high, under the name of junior high school.

Toward meeting modern demands we have a commercial course partly developed, a domestic arts course for girls, now in the first year but capable of development through the four years and a manual training course limited under present conditions to the first year. Development of industrial education for boys ought to keep pace with domestic arts for girls, but it is more difficult to determine the best way.

A course in mechanics arts, such as pattern making and various forms of iron work are provided in some high schools. A few of the cloth making centers have built up high school courses on the textile industries. Agricultural courses are an important part of high school work in many towns. The idea is to build up a system of education based on the life of the community itself. It is possible that some course especially suited to Littleton might be developed, but the chief industries of this town do not lend themselves readily to such a purpose and have not been made the basis of high school courses. The location of the town is such that a course of agriculture ought to be of great interest and value. Of all the lines which industrial education for boys may take, there is probably none of such general value as agriculture, either from its educational value or from its connection with the widest possible range of human activity.

PLAY

Through the kindness of friends we were able to offer very suitable prizes for excellence in athletic work among the older grades last fall. The interest shown in the athletic meet was great in spite of the fact that extensive vaccination interfered with the children's activity. In all the schools the teachers gladly take interest in the children's play and give guidance and help. The child's character is formed on the play ground and that is a sufficient reason for giving sports wide attention throughout his school career. The interest and attention given to athletics by high school pupils, if wisely guided, is a very valuable part of the school life. They ought to be more general. The tendency to confine such activity to the few star athletes is probably less serious here than in most institutions, but even with us attention to physical development ought to be more general. There is much interest in the question of introducing military drill into high schools. Whatever may be the decision as to the better form of exercise, there can be no question that a well developed body governed by a well trained mind is the best form of preparedness either for peace or war.

MEDICAL INSPECTION

Last spring the District voted to adopt the provisions of Chap. 83 of the laws of 1913 referring to medical inspection in schools. During the autumn the medical inspector appointed by your board examined the pupils of school with the following results :

Number of pupils examined, 854.

Number cases found of: Anaemia, 15; malnutrition, 1; nervous disease, 1; cardiac disease, 5; pulmonary disease, 1; skin disease, 1; orthopedic defects, 11; defective teeth, 18; hypertrophied tonsils, 104; adenoids, 27; gland disease, 1.

Number card notices physician to parents, 53.

PROSPECTS AND NEEDS

This year the high school building houses about 375 pupils. Next year the number in the grades will be probably fully as large and the number in the high school somewhat larger. The conditions under which the work has been done in this building have long been unsatisfactory and are growing worse. At the present rate of increase the Kilburn building will be seriously over-crowded another year. The extra room made in the building a few years ago enables us to care for 50 or 60 pupils each in the second and third grades, but next year the fourth grade will also be as large and we have no extra room for that. At Apthorp no room has yet been seriously over-crowded, but now the first and second grades and the room containing the seventh and eighth grades together are all well filled. At the present rate of increase some of the rooms will be more than filled next year. There is still one room at Apthorp that can be finished off. It is difficult to handle the number in the building with the present halls and arrangement of basement. The prospective number in the Mitchell school is about the same at present, but the building itself is unsatisfactory. The work of the schools during the year has not stood still or gone backwards in spite of several changes in the teaching force. The work of instruction has continued to be of high quality and in some respects to improve. The schools would be greatly helped if each room contained a well chosen library for use of the children. The ordinary appropriation for text books and supplies has never been large enough so that any part of it could be used for library purposes.

The following is the summary of most apparent needs :

A new high school building ;

Improvements to or replacement of the old high school building ;

High School Report

Gentlemen of the School Board:

In presenting my sixth annual report, I am minded to review the ideals that guide the administration of your high school.

First—Your attention is called to the spirit of optimism that influences your teachers. There is an individual in every boy and girl for the high school to discover and develop. Thus we make our instruction minister to each personality. We need unceasingly the cooperation of parents, such as we have in large measure received.

Second—The high school is not a place for high scholarship merely. Our definition of education is broader. It means the constant acquisition of new points of view, the awakening of slumbering ideals through the daily tasks, the habit of studious work becoming fixed for life long service. Thus the finding of the line of work which each pupil can profitably and pleasantly perform, is a supreme necessity. So, the failures among high school pupils become an index of the failure of the school to fulfil its mission to the individual.

Third—The high school is striving to interpret the pupil's daily life. The practical content of all studies is receiving the emphasis. English courses are leading to the library and to the practical command of English in daily use. Physics aims to explain the laws of science as applied to the home. Commercial geography investigates the commercial industries of Littleton. Chemistry reads a new meaning into the common substances of daily use and experience. Ancient History discovers the results of classic architecture in our dwellings. Every study contributes to an increased understanding of the present day.

Fourth—Every teacher is on the alert to find the particular interest that may lead the pupil to choose his vocation in life.

Lastly, the entire aim is to assist in the growth of character; through discipline, to self control; by athletics, to better nerve and physique; by the harmless and well ordered amusement of the school social, to cultured manners and appearance. We regard our high school as an effective agency in the growth of moral personality.

It is gratifying to report the establishment and successful working of the manual training for first year pupils. These are valuable aids to realizing the ideals enumerated above. To fail to provide the necessary room and teachers in order to carry on these courses during the other three high school years, will be little less than criminal negligence. There are 10 freshmen girls in domestic arts and 13 boys in manual training. When the courses have been running four years, we estimate there will be no less than 40 girls and 40 boys in these two curricula.

In the commercial course are 13 seniors, 12 juniors, 27 sophomores, and 15 freshmen, girls outnumbering boys.

The Latin course claims 6 seniors, 13 juniors, 9 sophomores, and 16 freshmen. The general course has 6 seniors, 10 juniors, 15 sophomores, and 13 freshmen.

A natural interest in science is shown by the numbers taking these subjects. Twelve seniors are in Chemistry while 21 pupils are in Biology. More than 30 are studying European history. French is a popular study, including in its classes 10 seniors, 22 juniors, and 30 sophomores. Fourteen pupils are beginning German.

The ideal of college preparation has become subordinated to the larger ideals already mentioned. Nevertheless, Littleton High will doubtless continue to be in a very real sense a college preparatory school. Not less than 10 of the class of 1915 are in college and several of 1916 are preparing to go.

Our enrollment has reached the highest in the history of the school—170. The number of tuition pupils totaled 23, largely from Bethlehem and Carroll. Littleton is constantly increasing the attendance in its high school, our rooms are badly overcrowded, recitation rooms are too small for the size of classes, the physics laboratory is altogether inadequate, we have no place for school assemblies.

When are Littleton's high school children to receive the building and equipment justly due them?

The staff remains as last year, with the exception that Mr. Gilmore takes the place of Miss Wilcox. He is a beginner, but is developing into a first class teacher of mathematics and science.

In closing, I emphatically repeat, the time has come when a new school building is absolutely necessary. The Littleton voters should cease to delude themselves with the cry, "We can't afford it." Your boys and girls are handicapped in their competition with others in college and in life because we lack the proper equipment and space to do our work.

Allow me, gentlemen, to express to you, and through you, to the public, the gratitude of all the high school teachers for sympathetic cooperation.

Respectfully submitted.

GUY E. SPEARE, Principal.

The gift of books covers one hundred and sixteen volumes, and have been given by the following patrons: Dr. T. W. Harris, Charles Harris, The Mary Baker Eddy Fund, Miss Stella Farr, H. P. Johnson, R. T. Gile, Mrs. Delia Mitchell, Mrs. Elizabeth Beattie, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bingham, Rev. J. E. Johnson, D. C. Remich, Harry Glode, Mrs. Tatham, Mrs. Raymond Brooks, Mrs. R. Barnett, Flossie and Madeline Jerome, Leslie Bean, and the usual gifts of magazines and papers from D. C. Remich, Christian Science Society and Colonial Club, have been regularly received and much appreciated. During the summer of nineteen hundred and fifteen, the gift from the late Mrs. Remich of a statue of Henry Ward Beecher was much appreciated, it being the first piece of statuary to be placed in the library. Mrs. Ida Eastman Elting gave over a hundred books from her own library, but owing to press of work they are not yet catalogued. They will prove of much value in the years to come, many of them being duplicates of best works, and all are books of high merit for a library to possess.

The year, as may be judged from the statistics, shows a steady gain in circulation, but while the circulation of books is important, it is not all that the library is called upon to do and it is impossible to bring before the public, the various ways the library is trying to serve the public, more especially in the way of reference work, so much used by the schools, clubs and those interested in research work of modern topics. Much yet remains undone, for the need of better equipments, space and time. The actual needs of the library are many, as they should be for any library that is growing and alive to the needs of the public.

Respectfully submitted,

JENNIE E. SMITH, Librarian.
